case study: Flight Experience

As a franchise, Flight Experience had the full drawings of the shop fit-out provided. As a franchisee, Peter Cross was interested in getting the job done with minimal complications and knowing that the design was complex, had asked his former landlord who used to own a joinery shop, who they could approach.

After discussions with Bernard Clark of BML Builders, Peter was comfortable that BML would be able to handle the job.

Challenges:

- To build the complex ceiling centre piece
- To translate design into a functional building
- To create a seamless wall from heavy MDF board

What Happened:

BML Builders was able to build to Peter's specifications. The overall look and feel is professional and of a high quality.

Outcomes:

The overall standard was very good with issues being dealt with as they occurred.

Client Comments:

Peter agrees that the fit-out is to a high standard and was "Value for Money". The mall owner who came for a flight experience commented "Wow I did not expect it to be this good". Peter - who is considering opening an additional store - would have no hesitation in using BML for his next store and has actively approached the franchise to make BML the official fit-out provider of choice.
